

Development Coordinator Northern Arizona Healthcare

As Northern Arizona's largest and most respected healthcare organization, Northern Arizona Healthcare (NAH) serves the northern of the state with more than 150,000 patient visits annually. Within its advanced full-service hospitals – Flagstaff Medical Center and Verde Valley Medical Center – the people of Northern Arizona Healthcare live out a philosophy that “Patients are our Purpose.” Away from work, you will enjoy the four-season climate, breathtaking scenery and limitless activities that make Northern Arizona such an amazing place to live, work and play.

NAH is looking for a dynamic individual with a healthcare background to be responsible for the effective development, coordination and presentation of training and development programs for all employees. You will be assessing our system-wide development needs to drive training initiatives. Once needs have been identified, this person will be responsible for initiating active research to produce fresh, creatively designed programs and implementing effective methods to educate and enhance employee performance and engagement.

Bachelor's degree in business administration, education or minimum five years of adult teaching equivalent, and minimum two years recent training and development experience in a healthcare environment required.

If you are ready to work in an environment of unmatched natural beauty that's punctuated by breathtaking vistas, warm and friendly communities, and recreational pleasures that are bound only by one's imagination, it is time to consider this exceptional career opportunity.
